

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to verify that Fashion for Change at the University of Waterloo is officially supporting WE Charity, a registered charity in Canada.

Founded by Craig and Marc Kielburger, WE Charity is an international charity and educational partner. Domestically, we deliver youth programs that aim to educate, engage and empower youth to achieve their fullest potential as “agents of change” and active global citizens. Internationally, we work to remove the barriers to education and break the cycle of poverty through WE Villages, our holistic and sustainable development model. WE Villages is currently implemented in 9 countries: Ecuador, Nicaragua, Haiti, Ghana, Sierra Leone, Kenya, India, Ethiopia & Rural China.

At WE Charity, we've seen first-hand that education is the foundation of empowering individuals, strong communities and an equitable world. Through WE Village's development model, we implement holistic and sustainable development projects through five key pillars: education, clean water and sanitation, health, alternative income and livelihood, and agriculture and food security. All pillars work together to break the cycle of poverty.

Thank you very much for your generous support of WE Charity.

Sincerely,

Katherine Stacey
